ELDORA IS PLANNING FOR BOOM

This summer will, no doubt, see quite a boom at beautiful Eldora just across the river from Monesen, so says Mr. Fred E. Kramer, general salesman for the Wanner Land Co., with offices at Monongahela.

Plans are about completed for the erection of fifteen new residences on the Eldora plan and the new poured cement system will be used on all the structures.

This plan is to use steel forms or casings in sections, and while one or more sections are being poured, others previously poured are drying, and by this system a good, substantial house can be easily and quickly finished.

The steel booms a or casings have been ordered and work will begin on the buildings before June first.

On this plan are located five elegant springs of pure, crystal water, and a large reservoir is planned into which to turn all these springs so as to furnish pure spring or mountain water for the dwellings of that entire community which is expected to build up rapidly and become a residential section for Monessen. Eldora is within easy trolley reach of the four towns of Monessen, Charleroi, Donora and Monongahela, and located as it is, high, dry and healthy, it will, with improvements contemplated, ere long become one of the finest residence places in the valley. Already the plan is piped for gas, every dwelling there being now supplied with gas and pure water, and all the other advantages that are already established and what are to come, it will not be long until people will begin to cast covetous glances toward Eldora—"sit up and take notice," as it were.

Home Guards are Growing

G. Moss of Van Wert, Ohio, District Manager for the Home Guards of America is in Monessen and will meet with the newly organized "Home" in opera house hall on Friday evening when a large class of candidates will be initiated. The Monessen lodge was instituted some time ago with about forty charter members, and with tomorrow night's addition the membership will total a little more than seventy-five. Dr. Rosen, who for some months has his optical offices in the Peoples Bank Building is now working as Ditrict Organizer with very encouraging success.

MANY VISITED THE OPENING AT ELDORA

Many young people from this city attended the opening of Eldora Park last evening. The management had made no special preparations for the opening and dancing was the feature of the first day. There are no picnics arranged for this week, but there are two for next week and one for the following week. The Monongahela schools will hold their picnic on Thursday May 23 and the Charleroi's schools the following day. On Friday May 31, the Donora schools will hold their picnic at Eldora.

Tom P. Sloan is once more at the head of the park with Roy S. Sharpneck as an able assistant. They have placed considerable improvement on the park, in the way of painting all the buildings, fixing up the grounds and making the natural resort take on an added air of attractiveness.

It is the intention to continue the Sunday afternoon band concerts and the first one will be next Sunday when the Monessen band will be the attracton, the boys have been practicing for some time and have arranged an attractive program.

Rev. Cherney Dies of Smallpox

Rev. J. A. Cherney former pastor of the Baptist church here, died Tuesday of the smallpox, contracted while he was serving as a volunteer in the famine sections of China. Word was received locally through a cablegram sent to Rev. Cherney's brother in Cleveland, yesterday. The deceased was 34 years old and is survived by his widow and one child.

AT THE STAR

For tonight and the balance of the week we have the Morton Jewell Troupe, in military singing and juggling.

Ada Carleton, vaudeville's dainty little "Fashion Plate."

Jack Lewis, the "German Senator."

H. E. Reiff as an extra attraction, will sing illustrated songs, featuring "Our Absent Brotner."

This is an unusually strong bill and a treat for our vaudeville lovers. So don't miss a visit to the Star, and remember the matinee for children Saturday afternoon 5c and 10c. 1t

ANNEXATION ORDINANCE WILL SOON ADMIT McMAHAN

An adjourned session of council was held last evening and a number of important business matters were taken up. The costs of the case against the Bell Telephone Co., which amounted to $70 were ordered paid. The revenue from the pole tax will amount to about $400 yearly. The case of Moorehead against the borough was settled by compromise.

The committees representing the boroughs of McMahan and Monessen met and steps were taken for the consolidation of the two boroughs. The McMahan people ask that they be assured 700 feet of sewers and the paving of Ninth street through the borough. In case the annexation goes through and in all probability it will, the consolidation will take place sometime in November.

Tax Collector John Reed asked for exoneration on a number of delinquents and the matter was referred to the finance committee. An ordinance regarding the burning of refuse on streets, alleys and vacant lots passed second reading. The ordinance requires that the lot owners written permission be had for the burning of rubbish on vacant lots. Another ordinance regarding the establishing of the grade on an alley between Reed and Knox avenues passed second reading. The meeting was then adjourned.

COMPANY A IS READY FOR THE INSPECTION

All is in readiness for the annual inspection of Company A. which will be held Friday evening in the armory at Monongahela. The company has been devoting much time to the work and hopes to make an excellent showing.

The members of the company are becoming enthusiastc over rifle practice and so strong is the rivalry between the men that several private matches are being planned. This augurs well for the success of the riflemen and a good score is sure to be the result at the end of the season. There are several members of the company from Monessen including William Laird, Gordon Laird and George Meiser.

Limiting the Presidential term to six years and no second term to be asked for seems to look like "tomfoolery" to Col. Roosevelt. Perhaps such a term wouldn't be worth going after, in his estimation.

It is hardly possible that a Church League game will be played this evening as the condition of the grounds at Page park is bad and is covered with miniature lakes. The Christians and Lutherans were to have played and each team had secured a strong front to present in their initial game. Tomorrow evening, the Catholics and Baptists are scheduled. The postponed game between the Methodists and Presbyterians which was started on Tuesday evening will be played off on Monday evening according to arrangements made by the managers of the two teams.

On Saturday afternoon the Page A. A. team will have as an attraction with the Beltzhoover A. C. of Pittsburgh. The Beltzhoover team is one of the strongest independent teams in this end of the state and is the team on which Otto Knabe, Lew Moren and Phil Lewis players now with major league clubs received their first knowledge of how to play the national game.

KNIGHTS OF MALTA TO BUILD HOSPITAL

Butler, May 16—At the twentieth annual convention of the Ancient and Illustrious Order of the Knights of Malta of Pennsylvania, yesterday, plans were adopted for the erection of a home and hospital in the site near Grandville, Mifflin county, purchased two years ago. The institution is to cost $400,000. The building will be in the form of a cross of Salem or double cross. The original section will be in the form of a cross with the main section 400 feet long and the wings extending 100 feet.

Unlike every other institution of the kind, the Malta home is to be open to the aged and infirm and orphan children of every creed and nationality whether affiliated with the Maltas or not.

Dr. E. J. Rugh, of Pittsburgh, is president; J. T. Sembower, of Uniontown, secretary, and A. E. Corns, of Wilkinsburg, treasurer. The home is to be maintained by the Maltas. Charles Shrader is representing Monessen Commandery No. 332 at the convention, and he is accompanied by Mrs. Shrader, who is a member of the Dames of Malta, the woman's auxiliary of the Order. Mrs. Shrader is a member at Pittsburgh and is working hard to organize a lodge in Monessen.

RUMORED SAFE OFF TITANIC

According to reports that have been received here during the last few days, Mathew Hirvonen one of a party of former residents who were passengers on board the Titanic which sank off Cape Race this time last month did not drown but was among the few survivors who were picked up by ships going the other direction and nothing was heard of their rescue until the vessels reached the ports for which they were bound several weeks later.

Hirvonen is said to have been picked up by a freighter bound for South Africa at daybreak on the morning following the disaster and enlisted as one of the crew until the first stop at Gibraltar was reached. He is said to have disembarked there and went to Calais where he attempted to find out news concerning the fate of his wife and baby daughter who are at the present time staying here in the care of friends. Nothing more definite than a vague rumor has been ascertained concerning Hirvonen's whereabouts and every effort is to be put forth by friends of the family here to see if the party who was saved is the missing man. The relatives think that it is some other person and not Mr. Hirvonen, but the smallest thread of hope is being grasped in hopes that a clue to his fate may be definitely found out.

Curb Market to Soon Open

Charleroi will have a curb market in operation within two weeks, as was decided at a meeting Tuesday night of members of the Charleroi Business Men's Association with farmers and gardeners at the Business Men's Association rooms. Saturday May 25, another meeting will be held between the farmers and local people. On that date also there will be some garden stuff and farm products on sale from the curb along Sixth street below Washington. However there will be no formal opening until a later date not yet decided upon.

The amount of family biography that is poured forth on doorsteps and front porches in hot weather, when self-control seems partially atrophied, is pitiable. It would seem as though common sense would indicate that, if one's uncle takes morphine and goes crazy and breaks the water pitcher, if one's mother sends her old satin dress to an aunt to be made over for the elder girl in school, if a cousin embroiders beautifully and sells her handiwork for pocket money and has three false teeth, though she isn't twenty, these are matters to be kept to one's self. Yet many a pink and white Flossie lets a flood of these conversational pearls pour over her lips as she sits on the porch of a neighbor's house and is very much gratified to find that the people who dwell therein find her conversation so entertaining. And there is always some sly listener ready to gather up the loose ends of this silly chatter and weave them into another, and may be, a wholly different story that will do nobody any good and may be the source of infinite harm.

A report is going the rounds to the effect that many Pennsylvania Democrats are planning to inaugurate and launch a Bryan boom at the Democratic National Convention at Baltimore next month. It is said that Mr. Bryan has a great many friends in this state, notwthstanding that Governor Wilson carried the State at the primaries, and they look upon the "peerless one" as a very probable dark horse in the race. Here is Brother Berry's opportunity, although as the nominee of the Democracy for State Treasurer he may be out hustling while another opportuntiy is knocking at his door. Just think for a moment. Suppose Brother Berry should boost this boom, and Bryan should land a winner, as many believe, what more logical, or zoological, as the case may be, than an alliterative ticket like this, Bryan and Berry? There would be only one ticket that would be more likely to carry Pennsylvania, and that would be—well we all know what it would be.

Perhaps one of the penalties of our busy modern life is the decline of letter writing which in other generations was a delightful and informing pastime. Few men or women now find time amid the engrossing occupations of the present to make a specialty of correspondence with intimate friends. Indeed, the times have become almost too strenuous for pain every day friendship.

Child labor should not be permitted in the United States. The agitation in favor of its abolition deserves the earnest support of every good man and woman. The child should be given his childhood and where the seeming necessity exists for the utilization of the child's service for the support of the family, the state should assist in the support of the mother and her family.

If they insist on coining three-cent pieces just because two or three cities like Cleveland have three cent street car fares, why shouldn't they make eight cent pieces so Monessen folk would have no worry or bother in making change for the milk man?

Perhaps one of the good reults of the present bitter struggle between President Taft and Colonel Roosevelt will be the eventual adoption of a constitutional amendment extending the president's term to six years and making him ineligible to re-election.

Quarrels among the various branches of the church are not as frequent as they used to be, nor are they so virulent. Nevertheless, they should be utterly ended for they cause the ungodly to scoff and sneer at religion more and more each day.

The country must be in an awful state, judging from what the two Presidential candidates say. But as each promises to save us, we are safe, no matter which is nominated.

Convention of Mission Society

The thirty-seventh annual convention of the Woman' Misssionary Society of the Presbyterian Church opened at New Kensington yesterday with 100 delegates representing 57 churches in attendance.

The program opened with devotional exercises conducted by Mrs. William M. Curry of Parnassus, an address of welcome by Miss Deitrich of New Kensington, and a response by Mrs. L. R. Schmertz. Addresses were delivered by Mrs. W. C. Johnson, missionary returned from Africa, and by Miss Roberta Barr. Mrs. C. C. Havs of Johnstown, president of the organization, presided.

David Sleith employed at the Dunkirk mine in Washington, met with a painful accident on Monday evening. He is a driver and with the aid of a mule was pulling cars from the main entry into one of the rooms. There were three cars on the string and they were going at the brisk rate when the mule tripped and fell. There was a lively mixup for a short time in which mule, cars and drivers were badly twisted. Sleith came out with a badly injured shoulder and it is feared that his collar bone was broken.

Delayed in Transit

Corson smiled to himself as the camp came in sight when he rounded the point in his frail canoe. It was the first time that Corson had smiled in some weeks, for he had passed a dolorous summer in town. At the camp, he was sure to find rest from the doubts that assailed him, for in the woods Charley Corson forgot even Lillian Blakslee.

It was not an easy matter to forget Lillian, for Lillian had been the cause of his wretched summer. He had let the Blakslees have the camp for the hot months. His business kept him in town through what Corson called the "scorching season," but he had taken pleasure in the thought that Lillian was in camp and learning to love it as much as he did.

Next year he hoped that there would be a June wedding, and a July honeymoon in the camp. There was nothing more than an understanding between them, but Lillian had made it plain what her answer would be when Corson spoke, and as the weeks sped by, and her letters grew more and more irregular, Corson first grew puzzled, then worried.

Even when they broke camp Corson did not learn the fact until after they had left the woods. Mrs. Blakslee's note of thanks hinted at an earlier letter, but there was none from Lillian, and Mrs. Blakslee did not speak of her. In spite of the thanks, there was a tinge of soldness and reserve in her note that made Corson more doleful than ever. He and Mrs. Blakslee were great chums. Now she seemed to share Lillian's dislike.

He had welcomed the news that the camp was again at his disposal, for in the woods he could forget his troubles for a time, and find the rest that he sought. The camp might remind him of Lillian, but with rod or gun he could conjure the vision away.

He paddled to shore, and was delighted to find that the camp had been left in perfect order. The Blakslees had brought their servant with them, and it was only necessary to remove the board shutters from doors and windows, give things a dusting and set up housekeeping. Before long a pot of coffee was perfuming the air, and bacon was sizzling in the pan.

The supper things out of the way, Corson fired his pipe, and made the round of the camp. He had reached the rough road that ran at the rear of the camp, when he encountered the dead stump that two years before had been used as the mail box for a private mail delivery. Teddy Griscom had been in camp with him that year, and it was Teddy who induced one of the farmers to make tri-weekly trips with the mail. Ted had fixed up the stump as their private box.

There was a cunningly contrived door in the opposite side of the trunk, and Corson glanced in to see how much the stump had decayed since the year before.

To his surprise he found that the cavity was half filled with letters and in a flash he realized that the Blakslee's servant, a recently landed emigrant, had mailed the letters here.

It was all clear enough now. He carefully did them up in a bundle and then he sat down to write a letter of explanation.

"I never supposed that the letters had been 'delayed in transit,'" he concluded, "and I blame myself for not understanding what the matter was. I should have removed the slot from the tree, but I didn't suppose that even a newly-arrived 'greeny' would suppose that Uncle Sam had mail boxes scattered through the woods. It was a delight to get so many letters from you all at once, but I will swap the lot for one little letter containing the single word 'Yes.'"

He made a special trip to the village to mail the package and then made daily trips for the answer. He had not long to wait. Before the end of the week he found a bulky letter in the box and he could not wait until he got to camp to read it. With the canoe floating on the surface of the lake he let it drift while he read over the letter.

"It was not Norah," wrote Lillian, "but the rest of us—and Teddy Griscom. When we left town Ted begged us to use his private post office if we wanted to. I suppose that he thought we should see the joke, but we didn't and unless we were going to town we mailed the letters in the box and it never occurred to us to wonder whether they had been collected or not. You see we are not woodsmen like yourself. Next year you can show us, for I accept your offer of exchange and will send the 'Yes' as soon as I receive the package. I don't want to let you keep the letters after we are married to prove what a bad temper I had."

Corson struck across the lake as he had never paddled before and he got the letters back in time for the night mail. Then he paddled home more slowly and in the cool of the evening he dug up the trunk and dragged it to the camp.

It is still used as a mail box, but it stands within the hall and Mrs. Corson warns their occasional guests that letters are liable to be delayed in transit.

"We lost a lot that way," she explains, but she does not add the explanation of the smiling glance that is exchanged between herself and Corson when she speaks of the letters.

The game between the Monessen and Charleroi High Schools which was to have been played this afternoon has been postoned until a later date owing to rain and wet grounds.

Protect and preserve your furs woolens and winter clothing against moths by using Lavender Flowers, 15c package at Kirk's.

McKeesport is in the throes of an epidemic of pink eye, a contagious and much to be detested disease, which has become prevalent to a startling degree during the few weeks past.

Paul McLenahan a member of the High School track and baseball teams suffered a severe injury yesterday afternoon while catching without a mask during a practice game. His nose was broken and his face was severely bruised in several places.

Try delicious Marshmallow nut Sundae atKirk's fountain.

A large mail box is being placed for the convenience of the people in front of the railroad station and when in use should prove one of the most convenient boxes in town. Collections will be made from this box every few hours. The box will be ready within a day or two.

Don't forget the Olympic tonight The greatest bill ever on. 93-3t

Monongahela is to have two full twelve hour days of clean-up next week, but those who have nothing else to do will not be prohibited from getting busy right now with the hoe, rake and broom, for there'll be plenty left then for those two days.

The body of Frank Nau, aged 50, of McKeesport, was found in the Monongahela river, below the Glenwood bridge, shortly after 8 a. m., yesterday. Nau left the home of Mrs. Hugo, just a week ago, stating that he was going to see his brother in Duquesne, and had not been seen or heard from since.

Harry E. Williams, former manager of the Star theatre, Jeannette, who was recently convicted in Pittsburgh on a charge of using the mails for fraudulent purposes, died in the Allegheny county jail Tuesday morning, aged 33 years. He was committed April 8, and was sick then. Saturday he grew worse and was sent to the hospital.

A box social and entertainment will be given this Thursday evening in the basement of the Methodist church for the benefit of the M. E. baseball team, and the boxes will be bid for as usual, and they will be all worth winning. So kindly remember this and everybody be there and have their friends there, for there is sure to be a jolly good time.

THESE SIX LETTERS
From New England Women

Prove that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Does Restore the Health of Ailing Women.

Boston, Mass.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from hemorrhages (sometimes lasting for weeks), and could get nothing to check them. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound (tablet form) on Tuesday, and the following Saturday morning the hemorrhages stopped. I have taken them regularly ever since and am steadily gaining.

"I certainly think that every one who is troubled as I was should give your Compound Tablets a faithful trial, and they will find relief."—Mrs. GEORGE JUBY, 802 Fifth Street, South Boston, Mass.

Letter from Mrs. Julia King, Phœnix, R.I.

Phœnix, R.I.—"I worked steady in the mill from the time I was 12 years old until I had been married a year, and I think that caused my bad feelings. I had soreness in my side near my left hip that went around to my back, and sometimes I would have to lie in bed for two or three days. I was not able to do my housework.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped me wonderfully in every way. You may use my letter for the good of others. I am only too glad to do anything within my power to recommend your medicine."—Mrs. JULIA KING, Box 282, Phœnix, R.I.

Letter from Mrs. Etta Donovan, Willimantic, Conn.

Willimantic, Conn.—"For five years I suffered untold agony from female troubles causing backache, irregularities, dizziness, and nervous prostration. It was impossible for me to walk up stairs without stopping on the way. I was all run down in every way.

"I tried three doctors and each told me something different. I received no benefit from any of them but seemed to suffer more. The last doctor said it was no use for me to take anything as nothing would restore me to health again. So I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to see what it would do, and by taking seven bottles of the Compound and other treatment you advised, I am restored to my natural health."—Mrs. ETTA DONOVAN, 762 Main Street, Willimantic, Conn.

Letter from Mrs. Winfield Dana, Augusta, Me.

Augusta, Me.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured the backache, headache, and the bad pain I had in my right side, and I am perfectly well."—Mrs. WINFIELD DANA, R.F.D. No. 2, Augusta, Me.

Letter from Mrs. J. A. Thompson, Newport, Vt.

Newport, Vt.—"I thank you for the great benefit Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me. I took eight bottles and it did wonders for me, as I was a nervous wreck when I began taking it. I shall always speak a good word for it to my friends."—Mrs. JOHN A. THOMPSON, Box 3, Newport Center, Vermont.

Letter from Miss Grace Dodds, Bethlehem, N.H.

Bethlehem, N.H.—"By working very hard, sweeping carpets, washing, ironing, lifting heavy baskets of clothes, etc., I got all run down. I was sick in bed every month.

"This last Spring my mother got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for me, and already I feel like another girl. I am regular and do not have the pains that I did, and do not have to go to bed. I will tell all my friends what the Compound is doing for me."—Miss GRACIE B. DODDS, Box 133, Bethlehem, N.H.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine, made from roots and herbs, it has restored so many suffering women to health.

Write to LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO. (CONFIDENTIAL) LYNN, MASS., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Men Killed by Explosion

About 4 o'cock last evening an explosion occurred at the Fort Pitt Powder works about two miles from Mt. Pleasant killing Solomon Keffer, a workman. The explosion was caused by the charger not being clean and was heard for a couple of miles around.

Solomon Keffer, whose home is at Iron Bridge, single and about 30 years old, had a hole blown through his neck and a hole in his side. An ambulance was sent to the scene of the accident and Keffer was taken to the Mt. Pleasant hospital. Keffer died in the ambulance and body was taken to the morgue.

The place is very badly wrecked and it is thought that damage will reach $1,500. Following the needed repairs the plant will resume operation.

Glassport streets will be well lighted for the next 30 days as the Welsbach Light company was given permission by the borough council to put up its 200 candle power lights as a demonstration at no expense at all to the borough and as a result the ordinance for lighting the streets was laid over until the next regular meeting of council. Thirty days of good light for nothing.

Carl Woodward has removed his offices from the Barker building to a suite of rooms above Brown's jewelry store. The new offices are fitted up in cozy style and Mr. Woodward promises to look after his clients' welfare better than before.

At McKeesport hereafter all shoe shine establishments will be required by the arm of the law to close up shop good and tight at 10:30 a. m. on Sunday, and hat cleaning will not be permitted at all. The ordinance by which the Mayor accomplishes this is the outcome of a movement of the Federation of Churches recently looking toward more strict Sunday observance.

He Tore My Shirt

Joe Barna was arrested by Detective Birnkrant and Officer Kreiling, at McKeesport charged with tearing a shirt off of Mike Micheal. Micheal said that he was in bed when a bunch came home and pulled him out, tearing his shirt from his back. The worst of it was he had to appear in court shirtless yesterday morning. Barna just laughed and said it was all a mistake. They had had a little friendly tussel and Micheal had torn his own shirt off. Nevertheless Barna was fined $5 and costs with the usual alternative for disorderly conduct.

MAY PROVE FATAL

When Will Monessen People Learn the Importance of It?

Backache is only a simple thing at first:

But when you know 'tis from the kidneys:

That serious kidney troubles follow:

That Bright's disease may be the fatal end,

You will gladly profit by the following experience.

'Tis the statement of a Monessen citizen.

Mrs. M. W. Cheesebrough, 941 Donner avenue, Monessen, Pa., says: "We have used Doan's Kidney Pills in our family with excellent results in cases of kidney troube. Last spring I was suffering from pain in my back and a weakness of the kidney. I commenced taking Doan's Kidney Pills and in a short time they completely cured me. This remedy is worthy of all the praise given it."

OLYMPIC

Today is the day—for motion pictures. We'll show five reels, each of which is worth more than a nickle. One of them is "The Land of Darkness," a great French drama, re-produced by hundreds of people in the best spot on European soil. Forty beautiful scenes. You miss a great deal if you don't see this picture. The next is the "Shade of Autumn," a beautiful French motion picture also. The next will be "A Question of Hair." "Through the Flames" is the next, a thrilling and exciting railroad story of real life, in which an engineer whose wife is ill at home rescues the inhabitants of a burning village. And some more. It

DEATH RECORD

Mrs. Louise Shepler died at her home, No. 407 Dale street, McKeesport, Wednesday morning, May 14, 1912, after a lingering illness, enlargement of the heart. Mrs. Shepler was 51 years of age and will be remembered by many Monessen people as she was a resident here moving to McKeesport some years ago. Deceased is survived by four children, viz Mrs. John Cowan, Powell and Margaret of McKeesport, and Earl Shepler of Monessen. The funeral services will be conducted in the Methodist church, McKeesport, Friday morning, at 10:30, interment to be in Rehobeth church cemetery, near Monessen.

Robert H. Latimore, a former prominent resident of West Newton, died at his home in Pittsburgh, May 7, aged 70 years. He was one of the pioneers in the production of coal in western Pennsylvania, in which he was associated with his uncle, Charles Armstrong. Twenty five years ago he organized the company that opened the Yough slope mines at West Newton and continued the business until about ten years ago, when he sold to eastern capitalists. His wife, nee Emily Greenawalt, and one son, survive him.

Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Merriman, aged 82 years, widow of James Merriman and a former resident of Canonsburg, died Tuesday morning at her home in Ingram. Miss Elizabeth Ann Scott and Mr. James Merriman were married sixty years ago. The husband died just one year ago Tuesday, the day on which Mrs. Merriman died.

Robert R. Thompson, one of Houston' oldest and most highly esteemed citizens, died on Tuesday evening about 8:30, aged nearly 82 years.

Mrs. Samantha Foster Johnston, wife of James Johnston, died at her home near McMurray Wednesday morning at 6:45 o'clock, of general debility, in the 85th year of her age.

Notice

Owing to the high cost of meat we will discontinue giving Silver trading stamps as we find it impossible to sell our meats at the same prices and help make stamp companie's rich. We also feel that it will be more satisfactory to our patrons knowing that when they buy meat of us there is no unnecessary expense added to it for stamps and premiums. Is it reasonable for a merchant to cut his profits in half and give part to a stamp company and still sell his goods at the same price? Hoping that this will be satisfactory to our patrons we stand ready at all times to supply our customers with a full line of home dressed meats which are the only kind to eat. We also carry all kinds of home made provisions which are guaranteed both as to quality and freshness.

DONINIE PUTS UP A STRONG ARGUMENT

Sued for a grocery bill and a horse and buggy, having his goods levied on by a sheriff, threatened by a sheriff sale, knocked by some persons of his congregation and asked many times to resign, are a few of the recent events in the life of Rev. S. V. Bergen, pastor of the Pleasant View church at Smock, just back of Fayette City. Had it not been for the friendly members of his church his goods would have probably been sold. Those members raised the necessary money by popular subscription and the judgment note of about $350 which he had given was paid off this morning.

The judgment was entered by Nat Garwood, an elder in the church, and the proprietor of a store at which the minister dealt. The minister gave his note for the bill with the understanding that he would be given a certain time to pay it. That time was not given and the judgment was entered by Mr. Garwood.

The pastor has only served six months of the two years term for which he was installed and he absolutely refuses to resign, as there seems to be more spite work than business or religion in the deal and he is encouraged by a goodly portion of his membership to stand pat and fight it out if it takes all summer. It seems the first friction arose when Rev. Bergen chose to install a Big Redstone Co., phone in his home contrary to the wishes of the church session, and from that time on dirt was thrown in his eyes at every turn.

Rev. Bergen is a young clergyman, well liked by the majority of the members of his congregation and others, there is always a large attendance at his services. He was in the limelight some time ago when as pastor of the Presbyterian church at Roscoe, he sent out personal letters informing the church members of their faults.

The outcome is anxiously awaited and the elders, it is said, are still planning to oust the minister, who so far has refused to be ousted.

Notice to Contractors

Bids will be received by the Monessen school board up until noon of May 27th for the construction of a concrete wall and pavement in front of the Iowa school buildings. Also pavement at the new Linden avenue building. Bids are also invited for about 100 squares steel ceiling in the Jefferson building, price not to exceed $9.00 a square. Full details can be obtained by calling on Wm. Watkins chairman of Building committee or F. H. Shutterley or Joseph Wheatley. 93-tf

Club Dances to Continue

The Winter club of Charleroi will continue holding their dances throughout the summer season in Might's Auditorium in Charleroi. Electric fans are being placed in the hall and every convenience toward the comfort of the dancers will be looked after. These dances which are held every Thursday evening have proven a great success and the committee in charge are promising great things in the way of novelties during the coming season.
